

SUFFOLK COUNTY LEGISLATURE

New York

The firm completed an assessment of County court needs in Suffolk and recommended, based upon analyses involving traffic, parking space needs and economic impact, the optimal location for 18 additional courtrooms in Riverhead and Central Islip. F&A headed a team of management consultants, a retired New York State Supreme Court justice and architects experienced in courthouse design. The report served as the basis for the County adopting a budget to proceed with construction in these locations. Court facilities, along with a branch of Touro Law School, have been constructed in Central Islip. Planning is underway in Riverhead.
